GOVERNOR ISSUES PARDON TO GANT

Leniency, Twice Refused by Kitchin, Is Granted by Craig.

THREE IMPORTANT HEARINGS

Set by Corporation Commission for May-Charters Granted

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Raleigh, N. C., May 6.—Governor
Craig has granted a pardon for Jacob Gant, who has served all of a fiveyear sentence from Alexander County for murder, except time that under the present law as to time off for good behavior and otherwise he would have credit for. Governor Kitchin declined twice to pardon Gant. In the papers was found a statement from Solicitor Linney to the effect that he could not have convicted Gant except for the fact that the killing was in a place regarded as a blind tiger and that the evidence indicated to him that the killing was in self-defense. However, in one of the earlier petitions protesting against the pardon asked of Governor Kitchin, there was the signature of Linney in pencil, opposing pardon.

There are three important hearings set by the Corporation Commission this month. The first is in the Rockingham case, for May 16, in which there is de-mand for the physical confection of the Seaboard Air Line and the Rock-ingham Railroads. This will be in the offices of the commission at Raleigh. On May 20, at Greensboro, there will be a hearing on the petition for improved train service on the Southern Railroad from Sanford to Mount Airy and for better passenger station facilities at Mount Airy. Then, on May 23, at Raleigh, there will be the hearing in the case of seventy, say Central and in the case of seventy, say Central and in the case of seventy, say Central and the case of seventy-five Central and estern Carolina shippers against the outhern Railroad Company for refunds cost of maintenance and operation.

The petitioners claim that the South-n could only apply the high rate to dipments wholly within the particular visions, instead of applying it to the the division and extend far into Central arolina. This is an especially im-ortant hearing. The refunds involved ill amount to hundreds of thousands

The best solution, he thought, was the control of playgrounds by a department of recreation under the direction of the city government, and bearing the second and park comtined the parks have come to be favorite haunts of vice. Chairman De Groot presented Miss Lucy Witt, of this city, who told a tale from "Uncle Remus" with a faithfulness to dialect and intonation that caused the large audience to applaud for many minutes. The applause continued even after she left the platform, but it failed to woo her back for an encore. applause continued even after she left the platform, but it falled to woo her back for an encore.

Rev. J. J. Curran, of the Church of the Holy Saviour, Wilkesbarre, Pa., spoke on the subject. "The Recreation Needs of the Coal Miners." The playground movement, in its deepest significance, he said, meant the substitution of wholesome outdoor diversion for the degrading and demoralizing amusement offered by the coarse representations of the cheap vaudaville theatres. Its progress, he thought, reflected a public opinion that looked with increasing favor upon amusement of the cleaner type.

In the mining regions of Pennsylvania, said the minister, the recreation movement is taking firm hold. Cities like Scranton and Wilkesbaye are appropriating liberally for the development of playground and recreation centres, he said, and the smaller cities are following their lead.

The Play of Girls.

President Arthur Kyle Davis, of the Southern Eemale Collegs, Petersburg, outilined what he considered the forms of recreation desirable in schools for girls. In play, as in other parts of life, he said, the girl leads the man, since she invariably plays for the sake of play and not for the sake of the reward to follow Girls, unlike men, he said, measure their play by its intrinsic value and not by its competitive worth.

Summing up his recommendations, Mr. Davis hedd that the sports best suited for girls' schools were those which were sim-series of monuments on one side and richigh purpose for which life is given. Through the whole of life, from childhood to old age, there should be opportunities for the practice of those forms of recreation which renew life, and which make for the joy of living. "Therefore, I consider such work as that of your association in establishing the best forms of play and in guiding the expressions of recreation among our people to be an essential factor in our national life."
